QUICK OKAY LIKELY FOR RELIEF MEASURE

By The Associated Press

Confidentially that predicted that a $120,000,000 deficiency bill could be passed by the House for next year would go through unopposed next Monday.

Rep. Belle Case of New York led his P. V. bloc in a Democratic caucus last night seeking to pledge the majority to earmark $100,000,000 of the relief fund for Secretary Ickes' public works administration a move opposed by President Roosevelt.

Special to The Star
NEVADA, May 3.—The dwelling house on the Frank Suter farm about three miles north of Nevada and occupied by Mr. Suter's son Clifford Suter and wife was destroyed by fire Thursday. The fire started while Mrs. Suter was working in the kitchen. A coal oil stove exploded.

The living room furniture and some of the furnishings from other rooms were saved. A large shed near the house used as a tool shed and work shop was also destroyed. The Nevada fire department was called but was helpless to fight the fire due to the shortage of water. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

DISCUSS OPERA AS MEET ENDS

Presentation in English Language Favored by Musicians Here.

Informal discussions on the timely subject of the presentation of opera in English in this country, by two eminent authorities, Alberto Rimondi of New York City and Dr. John A. Hoffman, dean of the Conservatory of Music at Cincinnati, was a highlight of the closing session of the annual convention of the Ohio Music Teachers' association yesterday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. On the musical program were the Lulu Jones Dowling and J. Bradley Griffin recital, a music appreciation recital by Donald Scott Morrison of Columbus, a harp solo by Leonard Trenah of Cincinnati, and chorus groups by the Dayton Music club chorus and the Men's Glee club of Ohio State university.

In Germany it is in the German language, and in order to popularize opera in America it must be presented in the language of this country.

The opera of the 1930s was opera for the opera. Mr. Rimondi explained in his talk, "With Carmen, Aida, Trills and Falstaff we go into the opera drama for the voice, with Wagner we go into the drama for the orchestra and opera line on opera, with Debussy we go into the drama of recitation with colorful orchestra and with Strauss we go to the beautiful dramatic encyclopedia of good music," he said.

Mr. Rimondi urged the encouragement of composers in America and said that there were many young people composing quite worthwhile music at the present time.

The program by Mrs. Downing and Mr. Griffin included delightful interpretations of poetry with a musical setting, several of which were original. Leonard Trenah, a pupil of Dr. Hoffman, who possesses a voice of quality and range, sang a group of numbers ranging from Bach to Gershwin, and the Dayton women's chorus, under the direction of O. E. Gebhart, sang six numbers. Edythe Livingston of Dayton played the accompaniment for Mr. Trenah and the chorus.

A former Marion resident, George Headley and Milton Baker, of Marion, are members of the Ohio State university chorus. Mr. Headley was the soloist in the presentation of "Credo" by Gershwin. The chorus, which was heard in a program here a few weeks ago, was directed by Ivan Cooper. Completing the afternoon program was a paper on music and compositions by Ellis E. Snyder, head of the voice department at Capital university, Columbus.

By The Associated Press. YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 4.—Michael J. Kirwan, Democratic candidate for congress from the 19th district, awaited today a hearing Saturday after his arrest on a warrant sworn out by P. M. Moore, charging violation of the corrupt practices act.

Moore could not be reached for details concerning his charges.

Wright said last night he had "not even the slightest idea of what the whole matter is about."

LANDON HINTS FIGHTING DRIVE

Says Nation Needs Revival of Confidence and Hits at New Deal Experiments

By the Associated Press
TOPEKA, Kan., May 8.—The nation had a broad hint from Gov. Alf Landon today that the coming presidential campaign will be no pink tea affair if he receives the Republican nomination. In criticism of the Roosevelt administration, the governor gave his own ideas on the course of the contest in a radio interview with the executive conference last night with H. V. Kaltenborn, political commentator. It was his first public statement since he had been elected.

What the nation needs, Landon said, is a revival of confidence. He attacked the new deal as a "betraying" of the American people with "wonderful" and "happy" government experiments. The pink tea remark came when Kaltenborn asked the governor whether he would make a real fighting campaign if he were nominated.

Landon replied: "Well, that all depends on how you judge a man. Some people judge a man by the amount of talking he does. Other people judge him by what he does. As to a fighting campaign, well, you can never tell how a horse will work until you hitch him up."

In his first declaration of the presidential election, Landon said he would not discuss as a presidential possibility the return of the political campaign in Kansas as a pink tea affair.

MAHAN ARREST PUTS GANGSTERS ON RUN

day if he really said I Charles Linton, United States district attorney.

He also indicated the young kidnap victim would be given a trial in state court after the state would allow imposition of the death penalty in event of conviction.

Under the Lindbergh law he cannot be sentenced to death since the kidnapping victim was not harmed. The federal indictment includes two counts charging Mahan with transporting the boy across a state line.

At the time of Mahan's capture, young Weyerhaeuser was following the routine of a normal boy, according to his parents after the kidnapping. Newspaper men found him watching a ball game at the public school he attended.

Asked if he was glad Mahan had been taken, George nodded and said "uh-huh."

Alvin Karpis, erstwhile public enemy number one and known as the brains of old Kate Barker's ring of bank robbers and kidnapers, was captured by Hoover and his men in New Orleans a week ago.

The hunt concentrated on a lone figure—last kidnapping public enemy to remain at large. He is Thomas H. Robinson Jr., the ex-law clerk accused of kidnapping Miss Perry V. Stoll in Louisville, Ky., a year and a half ago for $50,000 ransom.

Hoover agreed with Cummings, his chief of kidnapping and bank robbery, at least under control.

Bank robbery and kidnapping, will always continue to some degree, however, Hoover added quickly.

Sheriff Tells of Meeting Campbell
TOLEDO, O., May 8.—Sheriff James O'Reilly of Lucas county, revealed today he never suspected that a man he had known for several months was Harry Campbell, member of the Barker-Karpis gang captured here yesterday by federal agents under J. Edgar Hoover.

O'Reilly said a mutual interest in dogs led to his first meeting with Bob Miller, who proved to be Campbell. He told of meeting Miller several times in a cafe where the gunman was held in St. Paul today where he and Alvin Karpis face indictments in the $50,000 kidnapping of Edward Bremer.

O'Reilly said last night he owned a dog which he kept at a cafe on Motion street near the apartment in which Campbell was captured.

The cafe owner asked him where Bob Miller could buy a similar dog. The sheriff said and after Miller had purchased a dog the sheriff became acquainted with him.

O'Reilly said he saw Miller in the cafe several times and spoke to him. The sheriff said he thought Harry Campbell was a larger man than Miller and had not suspected the man.

Miss Gertrude Campbell, wife of the arrested man, returned from Cleveland early today to the apartment where she and her husband had been living. Hoover said no charge would be made against her.

Sam Coker, a minor gangland figure wanted by Oklahoma authorities who also was arrested here by Hoover's men, faced the prospect of being returned to that state to serve a term as a parole violator.

Whether Coker was the John Dillinger Sam indicted for the $100,000 mail train robbery at Greentown, O., last Nov. 7, could not be learned.

WOMAN'S HEADLESS BODY FOUND IN RIVER
Coroner Says She May Have Been Murdered, Plates Hint She Was a Dancer

By the Associated Press
PONTIAC, Mich., May 8.—The headless body of a young woman was found floating in the Ohio river 18 miles east of here last night. Coroner R. M. Gault said she may have been murdered.

Three knife wounds were found in the position of the victim's neck that remained.

Her body was found by Walter Lake, a fisherman near Franklin, La.

The only clue to the girl's identity was a scarf bearing the initials "H."

Colonel Gault said he was unable to estimate immediately how long the body had been in the water. The girl appeared to be about 20 years old.

The girl had plates on the shore of the river indicated she may have been a dancer.

Her body was killed in a sweater and tailored skirt.

Markings in her shoe traced to a Boston manufacturer indicated the body had not been in the water a long time because these were not faded.

Fingerprints were taken in an identification effort.

County authorities sought to determine if there was any connection with the finding of the body and the disappearance of a girl from Ohio City.

Coroner Gault said the condition of the body might have been caused by coming in contact with debris in the river.

Undergarments of the girl were bloodstained.

MERCURY REGISTERS MARK OF 86 HERE
Costs were shed about elevenfold and their appearance yesterday. A. M. Maitland greeted the warmest day of spring.

The thermometer registered 86 yesterday afternoon, three degrees higher than May's highest recording of last Friday. Last night's minimum reading was 61 degrees.

At noon today, Dr. F. H. Raftery, meteorologist, reported the reading to be 82.

Ohioan weather of the gold was of Phil Reta, weather and at 29 of the youngest department of justice bureau chiefs in the country.

He is Wayne I. Listerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Listerman of nearby East Thomas, Ky.

In charge of the Trenton A. I. office before assignment to the west coast in January he had a hand in the investigation of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case, sources here disclosed and going to California picked up at once the trail that led to Mahan's capture.

Listerman is a graduate of Miami University, Oxford, O., class of 1928 and graduated from the University of Cincinnati law school in 1932. He was appointed to the department of justice six months later.

Three years ago he married Miss Mildred Masters of Brookville, Ind.

"I started for right arm and tried to pull her out. When I saw she was going to resist me again I took the revolver out of my pocket to scare her. She grabbed it or it was hand was more or less under the trigger. I heard the thing, a 'clack' and that's all I remember."

He said he was with the witness, a Seattle woman, when she was shot. He said he was with the witness, a Seattle woman, when she was shot.

Under Blocker's withering cross examination Wilson, who wept when he spoke of his love for the girl, admitted that he had struck her several times and that Mrs. Ralph J. Moorhead, Jean's mother, had twice protested the matter to him.

When Blocker asked him "You feel the whole?" the boy replied "Yes, sir."

Blocker hit the claim.

By forcing the boy to deny earlier testimony that he had murdered the girl, Blocker sought to prove that the girl was not dead.

Wilson was sworn to the fact that he had killed the girl when he fled to Crestline 12 miles west of here. He asked "Why did you say to Marshall Wick when he came to arrest you for murder? I like to know what?" Wilson replied "I don't know."

The lie between the defendant and Blocker came in the cross examination when the expert prosecutor attacking Wilson's statement that he and Jean Moorhead had spent the evening before the shooting together fired at him.

As a matter of fact, Jean was at the home of a girl friend that night, Wilson said.

Wilson's face turned half red and half blue as he braced the man with his fist for emphasis.

It is not true.

His anger was in strange contrast with the hopelessness with which he later met Blocker's questions regarding the location of the girl's wounds. Asking the boy to demonstrate his position beside the Smith car, he intimated the girl with the revolver Blocker had just shot out.

If you were standing beside the car, struggling with Jean over the revolver, how does it happen that all the bullets were fired into the back?

Wilson remained speechless a second, then lowering his head and shaking it dejectedly said only half audibly "I don't know."

It's very cheerfulness makes it one of the most popular of designs. See the complete "Sun Ray" line of dinnerware and tableware. You will be pleasantly surprised at so fine a Fostoria value at so moderate a price. For instance, service for eight, of 34 pieces, is only $10.00.

Gypsy Weather

BY MARGARET BEIL HOUSTON

"That old painted waltz is a kas. There were waltzes in all the bedrooms. Almost everything was Dutch to start with. But the generations came and went, throwing out, bringing in. That mantle there, for instance, is Italian. And the tapestries in the hall are French. And the drawing-room, you may have noticed, is all Chinese. Compensable."

"The only generation that hasn't changed is mine and mine and mine. All we've done is shut up most of the rooms. It took a platoon of servants to run the place. Somewhere around here, pointing to the colonial wing, 'There used to be a secret stair.' 'A secret stair?'"

Dirk nodded. "Some canny old Joris built it, either to escape from his intimates, or to let them in. It wasn't discovered by his descendants until the fire, and then Admiral Lowrie tore it out in shocked surprise. But he did something much worse when he built the wing."

"It's all beautiful," said Hope. "It looks as if there might have been a moat and a draw-bridge once, and a dungeon and a keep."

"A dungeon, at any rate," Dirk answered. "We call it a basement. I'll show it all to you some day, the old ballroom, and the Dutch chapel, and the very top of the tower where they used to watch for the boats. It will take some climbing."

"She was looking at another street, a shield, a hand that held a broken sword. She read the Latin words. 'My shield is scarred.' 'She closed the book. Presently she said. 'That's the motto I choose.' Dirk said, 'Can't I sell you Merely? Or Favorable Winds? They suit you better.' 'No, they suit you. My shield is scarred.' She rose, the book in her arms. 'I'm taking it upstairs. May 17? Of course. Aren't you...aren't you a Joris, too?' 'Perhaps. That's why I want to read it. It's something to live up to.' Dirk went upstairs with her, carrying the book. He was disappointed. He had thought they would have the evening together. At her door he said, 'Don't forget lunch. The lawyers' club.' He gave her the address. She would remember, she told him, and they said good night. When the door was closed she laid the book on the table beside the bed. The bed had been turned down, and one of her own nightgowns folded on the pillow. After a moment she moved noiselessly to the door between the two rooms, and pressing her cheek against it, listened. There was a sound now and then of papers stirring, and once a sharp noise as if Rupert were knocking on his pipe. She stole back, and moving the lamp, settled herself in the big gilded chair, the 'History of the Joris Family' propped against the table. She began to read the fine, uneven print. Reading, she fell asleep, and woke when the great clock in the hall was striking midnight. She rose then, and creeping to the door, listened again. Still the soft rustling of paper... She undressed and crept into bed. Dirk met Hope at one o'clock at the Lawyer's club. She had attended to her deposit at the bank and had already done a bit of shopping. Dirk was conscious that the black dress looked somehow different, less demure—saw that the change in it was due to the hat, a rakish scrap with a curling feather. 'Stunning,' he said. She sparkled. 'Look under the table.' He looked, and as he did not come up at once, 'My shoes!' she explained. 'Oh, your shoes! I should say.' He came up then to find the waiter at grave attention. After lunch he took Hope to the Joris office, a few doors away. Grave and dignified quarters that had once commanded a view of lower Manhattan and the Battery, but that now were hemmed in by new growths of steel and stone. Amid the encircling monoliths there seemed something stable in the dingy comfort of the Joris offices, something rooted and secure. The presence of Judge Blaise Joris, Dirk's and Rupert's father, seemed still to pervade the place, as the light of a master-star continues to fall on the earth long after the star has passed. Hope met Sanford Joris, and the members of the Joris staff.

lingered in Rupert's private apartment. She was interested in his secretary—efficient, thirty-odd—in the books on his glassed-in shelves, in the street below his window.

Dirk finally entered her forth to look at his own office, and the morning paper which lay on his desk.

He had folded the paper at the account of the wedding. It was short, a mere announcement, and she read it quickly.

Dirk explained that Connolly had mislaid some of the data.

"Your father's name, for one thing, and the city you hail from. Or it may be Connolly doesn't know the items that belong in the society columns. At any rate, I have them, and tomorrow's is sure."

She turned to him, a little pale. "Please don't. One account is enough."

"I think so, too," Dirk answered. She seemed slightly relieved on reading the notice, grateful apparently for its brevity. There would be no second account if she did not wish it. He went with her to the elevator.

"So you're going shopping?" She answered thoughtfully. "What color does he like—for evening, I mean?"

Dirk hardly knew Rupert's preference in colors, and mentioned his own.

"White," he said.

It might be Rupert's color, at that, since Elmer so often wore it. He reflected that a box had come for Rupert that morning, a small, precious-looking box. He himself had signed for it, and carried it up to Rupert's room. Rupert having already left for White Plains.

He dreaded the moment when Rupert should find the box, dreaded it for Hope. She with her anxiety as to Rupert's choice in colors!

"White," he said again, for after all it mattered greatly to himself what she would wear. "White, for daytime, brown—that sort of rusty brown."

She thanked him gravely, stepped into the elevator, and smiling a goodby, disappeared.

Rupert found the box on his arrival home. It contained the jewels he had given Elmer during the six years of their engagement.

He opened it, looking at the strand of pearls that had been his mother's, the twin bracelets he had bought at Cartier's, the brooch, the ring, the necklace. He had thought, would be like touching the flesh of Elmer. He would have thought, too, that, receiving this box from her, he would have sat down to an evening's steady drinking.

He looked at his watch. Hope would be in her room, he reflected. He had telephoned her two hours before that he would not be home before eight, that she was to have dinner with him, and be dressed for their evening together. She was dressing now, Nora assisting her. He had met Nora going to her room on his arrival.

Rupert lifted out the strand of his mother's pearls, and, opening a small inner drawer of his desk, dropped them within. Then, the box of jewels in his hand, he knocked on the door of Hope's room.

Dirk has a difficult moment, tomorrow, at the theater.

FRANK WIEDEMANN PLAYS PART IN KARPIS CAPTURE

Former Marion Man Helps Pave Way for Nabbing Notorious Gangster in Louisiana.

An account of a leading part played by a former Marion attorney, Frank Wiedemann, now assistant U. S. attorney for northern Ohio, in the capture of Alvin Karpis and his gang associates has been received here by the attorney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiedemann Sr. of 352 South Grand avenue.

The work of Wiedemann, who is in the office of District Attorney Fred in Cleveland, and federal authorities in that city is reported in Cleveland news dispatches relating to the Karpis roundup. Wiedemann's wife also told of his participation in the case in a letter to the attorney's parents this week.

According to a news story early in the case Wiedemann was one of three men who "paved the way for the capture of Alvin Karpis" in New Orleans. The other men are Postal Inspectors Sylvester J. Hettrick and Jena Cordray. Karpis and Hunter, a member of his gang, were captured in New Orleans last Friday night on information obtained by Wiedemann, Hettrick and Cordray, the news story said.

Cleveland gambling joints were once a favorite stamping ground of Karpis and his gang, Karpis was known to the federal agents in that city as "Sonny Boy Al" and Hunter as "Stuttering Kid." The latter spent his youth in Leavittsburg, O., near Warren.

Warrants for the arrest of Karpis charging him and four members of his mob with the $16,000 Garrettsville, O., train robbery last Nov. 7 were issued by Assistant Attorney Wiedemann April 27. The development followed revelation that a member of the Karpis gang, held incommunicado in Youngstown, had "squealed" to postal inspectors. At the time the warrants were issued by Wiedemann rumors were current in the district attorney's office in Cleveland that Karpis' whereabouts was known and that his arrest was imminent. The warrants named, in addition to Karpis, Fred Hunter, John Brock, John Doe, alias Sam (real name unknown), and Harry Campbell. The latter was captured by federal men led by J. Edgar Hoover in Toledo Thursday. It is not known whether Wiedemann participated in the Campbell capture. He is reported to have gone to New Orleans to return Hunter to Cleveland.

Brock, one of those named in the Wiedemann warrants, was arrested in Youngstown last month and is believed to have given the information that led to the arrest of Karpis, Hunter and Campbell.

"Karpis directed and led the Garrettsville robbery," Cleveland newspapers quoted Wiedemann as saying. "Campbell and the others look part," he added. The gang, armed with sawed-off shotguns, automatic pistols and a machine gun, took small pouches containing $34,000 in currency and $12,450 in securities, from an Erie railroad train when it stopped at Garrettsville, enroute from Cleveland to Pittsburgh.

A letter, received by Mr. and Mrs. Wiedemann Sr. from Attorney Wiedemann's wife this week brought the information that the former Marion man was to fly to New Orleans to return Hunter to Ohio.

NEW WRESTLING CHAMPION CROWNED

Despite a painful toothhold which Dick Shikat, right, obtained on Ali Baba, in a little match at Madison Square Garden in New York, above, the mysterious noon, excepting for a brief intermission at noon.

Claridon and Prospect athletes served notice that several county records may be cracked when they bettered the 440-yard dash time by 2.5 seconds in the eliminations held Wednesday afternoon. Christensen of Prospect paced the group by turning in the best time of 53.7 seconds, closely followed by Trout of Claridon, last year's winner and present title holder.

Early today eight county schools had entered some 200 high school and junior high athletes in the annual event.

Schools entered in the event are Claridon, Pleasant, Prospect, Caledonia, Morral, Agosta, Green Camp and Waldo.

Attempts are being made to organize a state association of cadet masters in California.

WINNING RUN OF GAME WALKS IN

Rooters A. C. Softball Team Defeat Lawrence Group

The Rooters A. C. softball team edged out a 3 to 2 victory in the seventh inning to defeat the Lawrence Farm Markets in a game on the Patten and Patterson street diamond. The winning run was scored with two out in the seventh when Kelly singled and R. Robbins walked. Lowery, on the mound for the Lawrence team, purposely passed Joe Robbins and Brady was unintentionally walked to move in the winning run.

The score by innings follows:
Lawrence Mkts. 0 10 0 0 2 3 2
Rooters A. C. 0 0 1 0 1 3 5 2
Darnell, Lowery and Hartle; Joe Paulus, F. Robbins and R. Robbins.

'Stars' Nice But They Don't Win Track Meets

That's Opinion of O. S. U.
Coach as Big Ten Meet Nears.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 8—"Track stars," Coach Larry Snyder of Ohio State said today, "are fine things to have on your team. They are a pleasure to watch in action and they attract a lot of favorable attention, but they do not win track meets."

Larry came up with that unusual, and seemingly paradoxical, statement in answer to accusations of rival members that the Bucks have the Big Ten championship "in the bag."

"It's all-around strength, the ability to place someone in practically every event, that wins team championships," Larry opined. "Just look at our prospects. Snyder went on. 'Jesse Owens should win both dashes, the broad jump and the low hurdles this year, and Charley Beetham appears the best half-miler in the conference, and it isn't impossible that we'll take the high jump. 'If all that happens, and we'll have to be lucky if it does, we have six first places out of a possible 15. That's 40 points. 'Well, we won six first places at Ann Arbor last year, but did we win the title? No, Michigan won it. 'Michigan, on the other hand, won but two first places and tied for another, for 14 points. 'But, with the stars out of the way after winning their events, Michigan 'went to town' in the other four places. They clicked in with three seconds, three thirds, four fourths, won four fifths and tied for another, and their point total was 48. 'Ohio, with that big first place margin to work on, capped a tie for second, won a pair of thirds, and the same number of fourths and we wound up with 43½ points. 'Now stop and analyze that scoring and you'll find that we were beaten by four and one-half points and that's just how many Michigan scored on fifth places alone where we didn't place a man. 'And that's the proof of my contention that stars, while nice to have, don't necessarily win championships unless you have plenty of other not-so-good boys to back them up.'"

The answer will be provided May 22 and 23 at the Buckeye stadium when Ohio State entertains the other nine Western Conference track squads in the annual classic which the Bucks have never won.

DISTRICT SOFTBALL GAMES SUNDAY

Second Round of League Play Planned by Teams

Marion district softball teams will go into the second round of their league schedule Sunday afternoon. In the league opener last week the Saratoga Grills, Lawrence Farm Markets and the Pleasant teams, were victorious.

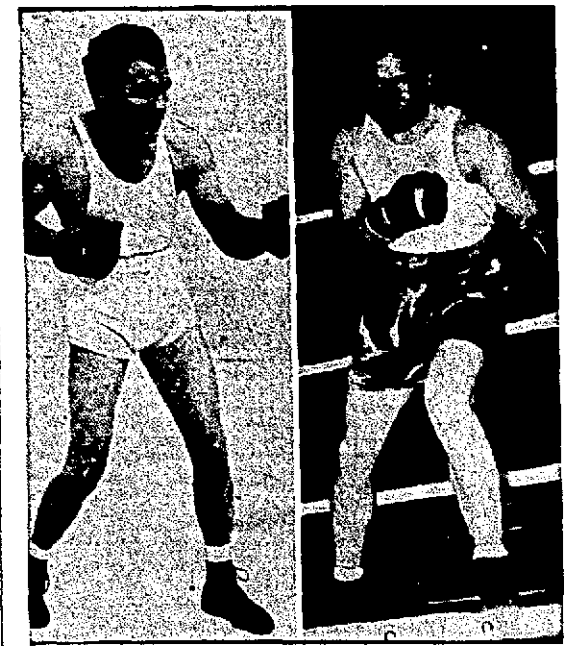

Games to start at 2:30 Sunday afternoon will find the Saratoga Grills invading Waldo, the Lawrence Farm Markets entertaining the Pleasant team and Richmond playing at Prospect.

The Pleasant-Lawrence Farm Markets game appears to be the outstanding encounter on Sunday's schedule, due to the fact that both squads were credited with victories in the opening round last week. The Lawrence Markets scored a 5 to 2 victory at the expense of Richmond's entry in the league, while Pleasant was declared the winner over Waldo by a forfeit.

For the first time in eight years he's been in professional baseball, Jack Wintzell, outfielder of the Columbus Red Birds, is with the same club for a second season. Wintzell, who hit .356 for Rochester in 1934 and .348 for Columbus in 1935, had a trial with the Boston Americans in 1931.

Weakness against left-handed pitching has prevented him from making the major league grade.

TONY CANZONERI
does against opponents of his own size.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, May 8—The practically irresistible Tony Canzoneri runs afoul of the almost insurmountable barrier of a ten-pound pull in the weights, which he concede to Jimmy McLarnin tonight, and curiously as to what may happen is likely to draw one of the biggest indoor fight crowds in years into Madison Square Garden.

Garden officials, with some $50,000 already in the till, are talking about a near-capacity crowd and a gate of close to $80,000 for their ten-round fistie natural.

Those extra ten pounds which McLarnin will carry into the ring are the cause of most of the disputes. Jimmy is expected to weigh in at around 145 and Tony at the lightweight limit. The main question is whether the 135-pound champion can spot a dangerous rival that much weight, and still put up the same kind of fight he

SOFTBALL UMPIRES GET ASSIGNMENTS

Prospective Officials Urged To Register with Secretary of Commission.

Umpires to handle Marion softball league games met last night at the Y. M. C. A. with Elmer Shaw, softball commission secretary, and received assignments for the opening games to be played next Monday night. With the hope of building up the roster of officials, Secretary Shaw, today invited any veteran umpire not present at the meeting last night or prospective officials, to register at the Y immediately for the purpose of assignment to handle future games.

Booklets containing the softball league schedules will be ready for distribution late today, Secretary Shaw said. Each team in the twilight leagues and night leagues is eligible to receive 12 copies of the schedules.

CRAWFORD CO. POLITICS BREWS

Republicans and Democrats Winding Up Lively Primary Campaigns.

Special to The Star—BUCYRUS, May 3.—Republican and Democratic candidates of Crawford county were today rounding out their campaigns in preparation for next Tuesday's primary election, which will settle four spirited Democratic contests for county offices and test the strength of the Townsend followers in the county.

Looking forward to the Republican state convention, Crawford county Republicans named seven delegates and alternates at a meeting Wednesday night under the leadership of James F. McMahon, candidate for district delegate to the Republican national convention.

Delegates named were Jack Shockey, J. D. Swart, O. E. H. born, Bert Wilson, Albert N. Cox, Sterling Trimble and Dr. T. N. Patterson; alternates are: Mrs. J. D. Faulkner, Carl Daugherty, Leland Bechtel, G. L. Eshen, J. K. Pope, Lester Zucker and McKinley Crum.

Room Political Shift
The county election board has taken an active interest in this year's primary by issuing instructions to precinct workers on the law governing switching political faiths, after reports had reached the board that many Democratic voters would attempt to secure Republican ballots in order to vote for the congressional Townsend candidate, Grant E. Mouser, Jr., of Marion.

The Townsend vote movement is particularly strong in Gallion, according to board members. Others who are equally strong in Bucyrus.

Bucyrus is interested this year in two congressmen-at-large candidates, Rev. A. Buchanan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Buchanan of Bucyrus and L. L. Marshall, son of Mrs. Mary Marshall, also of Bucyrus. Both are Cleveland attorneys. All in Democratic ranks.

All of the county contests are within the Democratic ranks. Only three candidates are presented on the ticket. They are Dr. G. W. Grant, candidate for probate judge; W. M. McKenry, county commissioner and Arthur Stuckert, candidate for reelection as sheriff.

Contests on the county Democratic ticket are for probate judge; prosecuting attorney, county surveyor and county commissioner. A three sided contest for probate judge is divided among Constance R. Keller, former probate court clerk and city auditor for two terms; Attorney Calvin B. Meek of Bucyrus and Attorney George Davies of Gallion, former collector and practicing attorney for nine years.

Two candidates will seek favor for nomination for prosecutor with Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon of Crestline and Attorney Arden W. Wiseman of Bucyrus as the candidates.

Two for Surveyor
K. A. Polster, former county surveyor and W. F. Philander deputy surveyor, are the present surveyor candidates for the county surveyor nomination and Jess R. Brinkman, William Amann and J. E. McLaughlin will seek the two nominations for county commissioner.

Democratic candidates who will not be opposed are Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl; Carl J. Ross, clerk of courts; Albert H. French, sheriff; Warren R. Kelly, county recorder; Matt W. Quay, treasurer and Dr. O. R. Kackley, coroner. All are incumbents except the candidate for sheriff who served as deputy in the sheriff's office for the past four years until his dismissal by the Republican candidate and present sheriff several months ago. Kenneth M. Petri of Gallion is also unopposed as a candidate for reelection as state representative.

County Pupils Rate High in Statewide Examination

Results of the "every pupil" tests given in the county schools in April, under the direction of the state department of education, have been compiled in the office of D. T. Mills, county school superintendent. Reports on the statewide participation in the tests were received here and provide a means of comparing the county averages with averages of the state.

The tests, given twice during the year, were in arithmetic, algebra, plane geometry, general science, biology, chemistry, physics, English, literature, history and Latin. Comparison of the county report with the state report shows that the average was in nearly all cases, slightly above the state average.

Pupils from the third to the eighth grades inclusive took an arithmetic test and the English test was given to pupils from the third to the twelfth grades inclusive. The arithmetic tests were the only ones given throughout the entire county school system; while particular schools were selected to take the remaining tests to determine how certain classes in the county compare with the state.

The tests are graded on a scale with a predetermined highest possible score and compiled so that it is practically impossible to make a perfect score. The reason for this is to accurately determine the degree of advancement.

In the arithmetic tests, with a possible score of 100 in the third grade tests, county pupils averaged 92 as compared with the state average of 88.3; with the same possible score fourth grade pupils averaged 73 as compared to the state's 68.1; fifth grade pupils with a possible score of 100, averaged 87, while the state average was 85.9; sixth grade pupils with the same possible score of 100 averaged 85, compared to the state average of 81.8; seventh grade pupils with a possible score of 90, average 78, and the state average was 76.1; with a possible score of 80, eighth grade pupils averaged 61, while the state median was 48.8.

The averages made by pupils of other grades in the tests show most are above the state average. The list follows with the first figure showing the possible score, the second the county average, and the last the state average.

Algebra, possible score 50, county 18, state 18.9; plane geometry, possible score 80, county 35, state 36.5; general science, possible score 75, county 33, state 30.8; biology, possible score 61, county 29.5, state 29.1; chemistry, possible score 80, county 32.5, state 41.4; physics, possible score 30, county 18, state 12.9; world history, possible score, 60, county 30.5, state 32.8; Latin I, possible score 65, county 22, state 27.8; Latin II, possible score 90, county 40, state 39.8; seventh grade American history, possible score 85, county 38.5, state 35.4; eighth grade American history, possible score 75, county 38, state 32.8; eleventh grade American history, possible score 75, county 44, state 48.4; twelfth grade American history, possible score 75, county 49.5, state 48.4.

U. S. AGENTS DRIVE ON LIQUOR EVASIONS

Tax Investigators Announce They Will Pay for Information on Illicit Still.

Altogether there still remains a great quantity of bootleg liquor manufactured and distributed in this locality. Investigators of the federal alcohol tax unit are asking cooperation of citizens in cleaning up this situation.

A majority of the people are unaware of the fact the bootleg liquor is placed in legitimate bottles and sold as a legitimate product over the bar. Violations of this nature are found daily in licensed dispensaries owned by unscrupulous dealers. These dealers reap a lucrative profit by their avoiding both federal and state tax.

To prove their allegations, the investigators point out the discovery of huge "cutting plants" in the larger cities, where alcohol is cut with water, a coloring matter added and then "put" in a few days with an electric heating appliance, his so-called whiskey is then diverted to dealers who elect to make more money and risk probable prosecution. A large amount of whiskey is also sold in "bootleg joints" of the past prohibition era, where no federal or state licenses have ever been issued.

Illicit whiskey and alcohol stills are operating in practically every part of the state, all avoiding the federal and state tax, and operated under the most unsanitary conditions. One whiskey still, recently discovered in this territory, revealed a $200 net profit daily, from an original investment of $800, the agents declare.

The alcohol tax unit will pay for reliable information relative to the location of illicit stills, and the source of this information will be kept strictly confidential. Any other information relative to transporting of bootleg liquor will also be given prompt attention.

Investigators of the alcohol tax unit for this district have their headquarters at Room No. 408 Federal Bldg., Toledo, O.

MOTHER'S DAY TALK ON CLUB PROGRAM

Special to The Star—Before Kiwanians.
Rev. Elmer Davidson, pastor of the Central Christian church at Lima, addressed members of the Marion Kiwanis club, their wives, mothers and guests at their club's Mother's day luncheon held yesterday at the Hotel Marion.

Mary, Mother of Christ, was the ideal mother, Rev. Davidson said.

feeling has passed off and the gas blowing is not nearly so bad. I no longer suffer from nervous headaches. I drop off into sound sleep as soon as I get to bed and awaken feeling refreshed. I am feeling better than I have in a good many years and give Vendol all the credit for this wonderful improvement.

There is just one reason for taking a medicine, that is to get well; but how many times have you been disappointed? How many half empty bottles have you in your home? You have spent your money with the hopes of getting well of some ailment only to find that the medicine did no good. That is why we tell you what it has done for people living right here at home. If it helped them it should help you, so begin now taking Vendol.

Overjoyed By Relief From Her Stomach Disorders
Says food seemed to roll up in a ball and cause cramps, gas pressure was bad, bowels constipated. Feels quite different now since taking VENDOL.

"Everything I ate seemed to roll up in a ball and cause awful cramps in my stomach, but I am overjoyed by the relief Vendol gave in a very short time," said Mrs. R. F. Driscoll of 299 Glad St., Marion.

"After meals there seemed to be a constant pressure of gas which I could not expell, my stomach was sour and sometimes I had attacks of heartburn which caused a burning sensation right in the pit of my stomach. I had a lot of trouble keeping my bowels moving, my nerves were weak so that I could not get a real good night's rest, and often felt as tired in the morning as I did the night before."

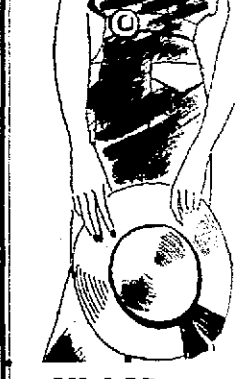

"The first bottle of Vendol gave some relief, so I took another and it has done me worlds of good, but I do not intend stopping here because I realize I have at last found what my stomach needs. The heavy

AH, ME TONIGHT THAT FAKE ROMANTIC ROMEO PROPOSES TO TILLIE AND IT'S ALL MY FAULT.

OH TWAS ON SUCH A NIGHT AS THIS THAT THE KNIGHTS OF KING ARTHUR'S COURT SANG SONGS OF LOVE AND PLAYED ON THEIR ZITHERS.

THIS NIGHT- THIS SPOT- AND YOU, MY QUEEN- AH, SAY THAT YOU WILL ALWAYS BE MY QUEEN THROUGH LIFE.

SOMETHING TELLS ME HE'S PROPOSING NOW. WHAT WILL HER ANSWER BE? I WONDER.
